Where Community and University Meet

Michigan State University has long had a presence in Metro Detroit through its strong regional programming and large numbers of alumni residing in Wayne, Oakland, and Macomb counties. Now there are two MSU facilities on Woodward Avenue, in the heart of Detroit, that serve as a hub for programs, research activities, and other opportunities.

MSU Detroit Center

The MSU Detroit Center is a hub for an array of community programs, activities, and special events that facilitate the University’s engagement in SE Michigan. The facility is housed in the 22,000-square-foot Albert Kahn building, which is available for use by MSU related groups/units and outside organizations.

MSU offers practical support to community development by creating collaborative partnerships among a broad range of disciplines and with external constituents. Several University-based programs operate out of the MSU Detroit Center.

The Center is home to:

- Community Music School – Detroit

MSU Partnerships Office at YouthVille Detroit

The MSU Detroit Partnerships Office operates as a research hub and program resource center aimed at youth, community, and economic development. The office is housed in the YouthVille Detroit facility to enhance university relations and provide youth related programs, services, and connections within Detroit and Wayne County. Located in the New Center area, the MSU Partnerships Office is an ideal host for networking, collaborative work, and program development activities with MSU faculty, students, and the local community. The 3,000-square-foot space is also available for short-term lease for University partnerships.

MSU Pre-College Summer Experience

The MSU Pre-College Summer Experience wants to make a world-class Michigan State University education a reality for Detroit area youth in grades 6-12 who live in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, and Washtenaw counties. Each Spring, the MSU Detroit Center hosts Summer Experience Open Houses to introduce Detroit area middle and high school students to MSU Spartan Youth Programs. These summer experiences are made accessible through a scholarship for residential summer programs. MSU is committed to enhancing the student experience and creating a new generation of Spartans through rewarding academic and campus programs.
