Call For Proposals

Opens annually in October

Presenters can meet National Science Foundation (NSF) requirements for broader impacts and inspire future generations about STEAM fields and opportunities. MSU faculty and academic staff, graduate students, and undergraduate students, as well as community partners across Michigan are eligible to present.

Mission

The MSU Science Festival celebrates the many ways science, technology, engineering, art, and mathematics (the STEAM disciplines) touch our everyday lives and shape our future. Our mission is to broaden public access to educational opportunities and promote science literacy in our communities across Michigan.
