PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

University Outreach and Engagement, Michigan State University

Dir. for Faculty and Professional Development, Off. of Public Engagement and Scholarship, July 2019—

Asc. Director, National Collaborative for the Study of University Engagement, 2017—July 2019

- Develop, coordinate, and implement scaffolded, developmental, and networked educational programs and materials to increase understanding and practice of community-engaged scholarship for faculty, academic staff, post-docs, and graduate students, including online materials, virtual offerings, in-person workshops, cohort programs, and individual consultations.
- Elevate the conversation about diversity, equity, and inclusion in community-engaged scholarship on campus and nationally through resources, planning tools, and evaluation metrics.
- Evaluate the quality and impact of community engagement professional development programs to ensure continued improvement, innovatively meeting learners' needs, and progress in reaching DEI goals.
- Interact regularly with other campus units (e.g., Faculty and Staff Professional Development, The Graduate School, Diversity Research Network, The GenCen, MSU Extension, the Writing Center, etc.) and national organizations to coordinate programming and benefit from best practices for professional development.
- Promote community engagement nominations for competitive campus and national awards, fellowships, and other honorifics.
- Develop and provide professional development about community-engaged scholarship for community-engaged professionals, including Sea Grant Extension, Michigan Department of Natural Resources—Wildlife Division, and Lake Erie Center for Fresh Water and Human Health.
- Provide national leadership on professional development about community-engaged scholarship and practice through consultations, campus visits, and virtual workshops.
- Consult nationally with individuals, departments, colleges, and universities about institutional leadership for community engagement; revisions to reappointment, promotion and tenure policies; and strategies for publishing community-engaged scholarship.

- Contribute to and lead national conversations about community-engaged scholarship, professional development for community engagement, institutional change supportive of community engagement through talks, workshops, grant-funded activities, and peer reviewed publications.
- Serve on faculty search committees for new hires with community engagement responsibilities.
- Assist departments in recruiting community-engaged graduate and professional students to the university.
- Serve on thesis and dissertation committees with community-engaged scholarship components.

Adjunct Associate Professor, Department of Community Sustainability, 2018—present

- Strengthen scholarly productivity of faculty, academic staff, and graduate students through lunchtime talks, workshops, and individual consultations about publishing peer-reviewed and practice-oriented community-engaged scholarship.
- Mentor graduate students about community-engaged scholarship, by serving on M.S. Plan-B, M.S.-A thesis and Ph.D. dissertation committees.
- Connect graduate students to national professional development opportunities focused on community-engaged scholarship.
- Contribute to undergraduate education through guest lectures, access to community-engaged learning resources, and connections to professional opportunities.

Leader, UOE Educational Programs Team, 2014—July 2019

- Guided by the key community engagement competencies, develop community engagement professional development programs for MSU administrators, faculty, academic staff, graduate students, undergraduates, practicing professionals, and community partners.
- Collaborate with UOE advisory committee, MSU units, and outside organizations to identify learning priorities and deliver programs that meet a strategic mix of professional development goals.
- Manage one-time educational program events, including workshops, write-ins, speakers, and panels, including publicity/recruiting, registration, program materials, event logistics, and evaluations—on time and on budget.
- Develop cohort-based educational programs, including faculty learning communities, summer intensives, academic retreats, including publicity/recruiting, registration, program materials, event logistics, and evaluations—on time and on budget.
- Present workshops on various issues related to community-engaged scholarship.
- Ensure diversity, equity, and inclusion are embedded and addressed in UOE educational programming.
- Collect program and participant data for planning, evaluation, and reporting purposes.

Coordinator, MSU Graduate Certification in Community Engagement, 2011-present

- Coordinate university-wide, non-credit, cohort program for master's and Ph.D. students interested in community-engaged scholarship.
- Draw upon and contribute to scholarship about graduate student professional development for community-engaged scholarship.
- Collaborate with advisory committee, The Graduate School, and Registrar's Office on curriculum, policies, and final certifications.
- Recruit, orient, and support faculty, MSU Extension, and community partner seminar teams composed of UOE staff, MSU faculty and staff, MSUE, community partners, and program alumni to ensure close alignment with curriculum.
- Recruit, admit, and orient incoming students on an annual basis.
- Mentor students through community engagement experiences and preparation of written portfolios and presentations.
- Archive accessible teaching and learning materials, including learning objectives, required and optional readings, powerpoints, handouts, case studies, and other seminar materials in classroom management system.
- Manage program growth through innovative practices to ensure high quality learning experience for participants, including support for the Michigan Sea Grant Fellows Program and travel scholarships.
- Collect program and participant data for planning, evaluation, and reporting purposes.

Asst. Director, National Collaborative for the Study of University Engagement, 2013—2017

- Develop initiatives to achieve unit and university strategic priorities
- Prepare annual unit budget and program planning materials
- Prepare program planning and budgeting reports for Office of University Outreach and Engagement, The Graduate School, and Office for Inclusion and Intercultural Initiatives
